ROME

Is For Peace at Any Price Now.

The Pope Actively at Work to Get Spain to Cry "Enough!"

AUSTRIA WILL PROTECT QUEEN REGENT.

New York, July 7.—Special.—A Rome dispatch to the Journal says the Pope has taken energetic proceedings in favor of peace. He has telegraphed a nuncio to Madrid enjoining the Spanish bishops to work together in favor of peace.

The correspondent cables that the Austrian fleet has been concentrated near Ragusa ready to start to Spain in case of danger to the Queen Regent.

Their Desperate Program—May Have To Hang Linares For Arson.

New York, July 7.—(Special.)—The Herald's Kingston dispatches say before Cervera's dash from the harbor the French Consul ask him what he would do if Santiago was captured from the land side. He replied:

"Linares would burn the city rather than let it be captured and I will turn the guns of my fleet upon the town regardless of friends or foes."

Camara Has Gone Through.

Late Report From Shafter.

Washington, July 7.—(Special.)—It is officially stated that Camara's fleet is now entirely through the Suez Canal.

The battleship Pelayo and the cruiser Carlos V., have expert French gunners.

Gen. Shafter telegraphs this morning that the report that Cubans were killing Spanish prisoners is untrue. No prisoners have been given, but they show no disposition to injure any one coming into their hands.

The Eagle Makes a Capture.

Lieut. Southerland Her Commander.

Key West, July 7.—(Special.)—The Spanish schooner Gallet was this morning captured by the Eagle and has just been towed in. The Eagle is commanded by Lieut. W. H. H. Southerland, of Hopkinsville, Ky.

A Crisis Close at Hand.

Campos May Form a Ministry.

Madrid, July 7.—(Special.)—The Duke of Tetuan, after conferring with the Queen Regent, met Gen. Weyler and Minister Robledo and held a long conference of great importance. Rumors of a crisis are afloat. It is regarded as probable that Campos will form a ministry within a week.

Getting Ready to Bombard.

Heavy Guns to the Front.

Siboney, Cuba, July 7.—(Special.)—Gen. Shafter has given up hope that Santiago will surrender without bombardment. He has ordered thirty-two ten-inch mortars to make a forced march to the front for use in the bombardment.

More Guns For Gen. Shafter.

Four Artillery Batteries.

New York, July 7.—(Special.)—Four batteries of heavy artillery have been ordered to Tampa immediately to reinforce Gen. Shafter,

HOBSON IS FREE.

The Exchange Made at Santiago This Morning.

Safe in the American Lines—Two of the Seamen Were Killed.

Washington, July 7.—(Special.)—Gen. Shafter telegraphs the War Department this morning that Lieut. Hobson and his seven men have just been received safely in exchange for Spanish officers and prisoners taken by us.

All are in good health, except two of the seamen, who are convalescing from attacks of remittent fever.

The officers exchanged were Lieut. Adolph Aries and 14 non-commissioned officers.

SCHLEY RECOGNIZED.

Resolution of Thanks to the Commodore and His Men Introduced.

Washington, D. C., July 7.—Representative Berry, of Kentucky, a member of the house committee on foreign affairs, Tuesday introduced the following joint resolution.

"Joint resolution tendering the thanks of congress to Commodore Schley, United States navy, and the officers and men under his command for their heroic and distinguished conduct in destroying the Spanish fleet in Cuban waters on the 3rd of July last."

The resolution was referred to the naval affairs committee.

Mr. Berry in speaking of his resolution said:

"I propose that the officer to whom the glory is due shall be recognized. Schley is the real hero of the accident. He and the brave band of officers and men under his immediate direction are the ones who achieve the victory, and all honor should be given them. Sampson commands the fleet in those waters, but it is Commodore Schley in command when Cervera and his fleet made the plucky attempt to escape, and it was under Schley that every one of the Spanish fleet met its destruction."

"Schley and his men have performed a notable feat that will go down in history hand in hand with that daring forcing of Manila harbor by Dewey May 1. Congress should be prompt in recognizing their service, and there should be no delay in tendering its thanks and those of the country to the real heroes at Santiago."

NO NOMINATION YET.

The Contesting Delegations are Divided—Down to Business.

Lebanon, Ky., July 7.—(Special.)—The appellate convention frittered away almost the entire day Wednesday before it got down to work that afternoon. The delay was due to the Committee on Credentials, which had a lively time settling the contests in the counties of Bullitt and Pulaski.

The majority report dividing Bullitt and Pulaski between the contending candidates was adopted.

Du Bois Not Lost.

Montreal, July 7.—(Special.)—Senor Du Bois, formerly of the Spanish Legation at Washington, laughed when told that his name was on the list of passengers of the ill-fated La Bourgogne.

"You can imagine that I have no desire to sail by the way of New York," he said.

Mrs. Walter H. Hill, of near Gracey, presented her husband with a fine girl baby Monday, as a Fourth of July gift.

LA BOURGOYNE.

Further Details of the Greatest Ocean Disaster for Years.

Many Victims Were Murdered After Saving Themselves—A Story of Horror.

Halifax, N. S., July 7.—The British iron ship Cromartyshire, was towed in here yesterday with her bow torn away by a collision, 60 miles south of Sable Island, with the French steamer La Bourgogne, which latter vessel went down ten minutes later.

Of the 725 passengers and crew on board La Bourgogne, only 165 were saved. One woman was saved by her husband. The Captain and other deck officers went down with the ship. The Cromartyshire laid to and picked up the rescued, transporting them to the Grecian, which came along shortly afterward.

Thrilling Story.

Mrs. Henderson, wife of the Captain, was on board the Cromartyshire with her two children. She tells a thrilling story of the terrible experience. The weather was foggy and she had arisen from her bunk at any early hour, as was her custom when the weather was thick.

Shortly before the vessels came together she detected a steamer's whistle blowing on the port side of the vessel. The Cromartyshire was sounding her fog horn at intervals of one minute. Mrs. Henderson called the attention of her husband to the sounding of the whistle, and a minute later the mate, who was on watch, detected the sound.

It came nearer and nearer, and Mrs. Henderson stood near the cabin in order to rescue her children should a disaster occur. Suddenly the huge hull of an ocean steamer loomed up in the mist, going about 17 knots an hour. Almost immediately there was a fearful crash, and Mrs. Henderson rushed below and found her children awakened by the shock. She dressed the little ones as quickly as possible and removed them to the deck, expecting to see her own ship go down any minute.

The work of rescue was commenced without a moment's delay, and nearly 200 persons were picked up and taken on board the ship.

There were many foreigners on board, who fought for places in the boats. It was fully ten minutes to a quarter of an hour before the La Bourgogne went down, and during that time there was ample opportunity offered to rescue at least some of the women and children. As it was, only one woman, Mrs. LaCasse was saved. She has been on board ever since. She is the wife of A. D. LaCasse, a teacher on language of Plainville, N. J.

Mrs. LaCasse says the officers bravely stayed by their posts, going down with the ship. The only officer saved was the purser. He went down, but being a strong swimmer, managed to save himself. When the ship struck they were off Cape Sable. The passengers, with the sole exception of Prof. LaCasse, were below decks. Without warning came the terrible shock. LaCasse rushed in haste to his state room on the saloon deck and got his wife out of bed and partly dressed. They hastened on deck, only to be precipitated into the water. They were not long in the water, however, when they found a partly submerged raft, upon which LaCasse lifted his unconscious wife and clung to it himself.

Boats Capsized.

Some of the boats, LaCasse says, capsized and all on board were drowned. The struggling, swishing water and terrible screams of the drowning made the situation an awe-inspiring one, never to be forgotten. One man on La Bourgogne when she sank went out of his mind and jumped to a watery death.

Capt. Pool Burned.

Capt. R. S. Pool, of Gracey, was in town to-day with his face considerably disfigured with burns from an explosion of gasoline used in an engine he is operating. He was painfully, but not dangerously burned.

PANDO

Is Like the Irishman's Flea Hard to Find.

Now You See Him and Now You Don't, According to Reports.

THE MADRID DISPATCH IS CONFIRMED.

Siboney, July 7.—Special.—Advices from the front Tuesday evening say that Gen. Pando is not in Santiago. Refugees report that the troops supposed to be Pando's were garrisons from Cuahitlán, Bonate and San Vincente. Hobson and his men arrived here Tuesday evening. Lieut. Hobson was escorted by John Jacob Astor.

Madrid, July 7.—(Special.)—It is rumored here that the bombardment of Santiago has begun and that the forts are resisting vigorously.

The Alfonso XII Destroyed.

Spain Loses Another Vessel.

Havana, July 7.—(Special.)—The Alfonso XII, one of Spain's few remaining ships on this side, was chased by the blockading ships and stranded at the entrance to Madrid harbor. Shots from the American guns set her afire and the cruiser was total loss. Two of her crew were wounded.

Burying the Spanish Dead.

A Medal For Roosevelt.

Siboney, Cuba, July 7.—(Special.)—Our forces yesterday found 250 dead Spaniards at El Caney and buried them in trenches dug for us. Our ambulances are still carrying wounded Spanish into Spanish lines. Lieut. Col. Roosevelt will be recommended for a medal for bravery in leading the charge Friday in the battle of Santiago.

No Mercy For Mercedes.

Sunk Like all the Rest.

Washington, July 7.—(Special.)—Commodore Sampson has officially reported the sinking of the Reina Mercedes by the Massachusetts and Texas Tuesday night, in the mouth of the Santiago harbor.

The Latest Estimate.

New York, July 7.—(Special.)—At the office of the French line it is said 560 souls were lost. No cabin passengers were saved.

Madrid, July 7.—(Special.)—The government is advised that 150 sailors from Cervera's fleet reached Santiago safe.

Cervera's Loss Six Hundred.

Likes the Way He Is Doing.

Washington, July 7.—(Special.)—Naval department received a dispatch to-day from Lieut. Col. Wells, naval attache at London, that Spain will probably sue for peace this week.

War Department has received copy of dispatch from Cervera to Blanco, telling of the loss of the Squadron. He says his loss is at least 600. Says the captured crews are very grateful for the noble way they are being treated.

Capt. Pool Burned.

Capt. R. S. Pool, of Gracey, was in town to-day with his face considerably disfigured with burns from an explosion of gasoline used in an engine he is operating. He was painfully, but not dangerously burned.

In the Klondike country at this season of the year there is only three-quarters of an hour between sunset and sunrise.

The Fulton Leader is little, but very large for its size. Mott Ayres evidently believes any color will do, "so it's yellow."

The revised list shows that 14 American officers were killed and 47 wounded in the three days' operations about Santiago.

The Cristobal Colon, like the other Spanish ships, is a hopeless wreck and it is impossible to save enough to set afloat.

Commodore Sampson will probably spend the remainder of his life kicking himself for holding "coast inspections" on Sunday.

A new Democratic candidate for Governor was discovered this week at the Lebanon convention. He is referred to as "Judge J. M. Wood," of Taylor county.

It is said Gen. Linarez declares he will burn the town before he will surrender Santiago to the Americans. He now has only 11,000 men, including Pando's reinforcement.

Only one candidate for examination for a medical certificate as a doctor of osteopathy was examined at Louisville Wednesday. She was a young woman.

A fence will be built around Camp Corbin to keep the recruits from deserting. Twenty or thirty men deserted Monday night, and probably 150 have left the camp since mobilization began.

Shafter and Sampson are said to be pulling at cross-purposes and refusing to co-operate with each other. This probably accounts for the statement that Miles will be in Cuba by Monday to take charge of the army.

Few people understand why Sampson, a captain, should have been placed over Commodore Schley in command of the naval forces around Cuba. And still fewer will understand why Sampson should have been promoted for a victory won by Schley.

Admiral Camara has passed into the Sue canal with his fleet of six or eight vessels, including one battleship. If he ever gets to the Philippines he will probably establish a base at some port other than Manila, but he will be hunted down and his fleet destroyed by the ships to be sent after him.

Two thousand cutters were shipped to Tampa on Friday to use in subsequent operations, and more will follow. Over in the Philippines the Spanish also have corralled their defenses with barbed wire, and so we have sent cutters to our army in the far-off South Seas. We too, have sent barbed wire there to enable our forces to hold against the Spanish whatever places they will take. The Spanish disdain to use the machete, though they fear the weapon in the hands of the insurgents. They have however, no means at hand to overcome our use of barbed wire fences.

The Missouri State University at Columbia has sent a goodly number of its students to the front. Much enthusiasm prevails there over the large number of volunteers who have enlisted. Several days ago there was a meeting of the young ladies of Columbia who had decided to do something patriotic. They collared, and composed the following, which was forwarded to the Columbia troopers now at Chickamauga:

Fare ye well, intrepid heroes,
Haste to war with its alarms,
You'll return to find us heroes
Waiting here with yawning arms.

If the Spaniards do not play you
In the singularly light,
Hasten back and we'll hug you,
In wild spasms of delight.

WORSE THAN WAR.

The ocean horror at Cape Sable for a time causes the public to stop discussing even the war. It was the greatest disaster of the kind in modern times, more than 570 lives being lost in fifteen minutes. The details of the story are horrible in the extreme. Such a racial as this is almost beyond belief.

"Not a first-class cabin passenger was saved, the steerage passengers rushing pell-mell over them in their wild efforts to reach the small boats and the hastily improvised rafts. In many instances screaming women and children who were being hurried into boats were struck down by the panic-stricken mob or else picked up bodily and tossed overboard in the blackness. The struggle for life was terrific and ended only when the ship went down. Men in the act of being lowered into boats or onto rafts were brained with clubs or stabbed with knives or stilettos, and their places taken by the terror-stricken foreigners, who rushed like a herd of wild cattle from the steerage.

"Those who reached the boats bitterly fought off every attempt on the part of others to reach them. Men and women, and sometimes even children, who were struggling in the waves, and who would put up their hands appealingly upon the sides of the small boats pleading to be taken in, were struck back into the water or else their arms and hands were chopped off with hatchets or knives and their mutilated bodies pushed back into the depths.

• The stampede baffles description, and the awful struggle for life in the darkness and amid the waters grows in horror as each survivor adds his story."

The Chicago morning papers, eight in number, which suspended publication Friday, resumed Wednesday in four-page form. The places of the striking stereotypes are being gradually filled by non-union labor. The Record contains a long editorial explanation, from which this is taken: "The principle for which the newspaper publishers of Chicago are contending is fully recognized by the International Typographical Union, by the Chicago Typographical Union and by intelligent labor organizations everywhere. In brief, and its importance is so great that too much emphasis cannot be placed upon it, amounts to this: That hereafter no trade organization which attempts arbitrarily, without consultation or arbitration with the other parties necessary to the agreement, to regulate hours of work or rates of wages, shall be recognized in our business affairs."

Between Madagascar and the coast of India there are about 16,000 islands, only 600 of which are inhabited, but most of which are capable of supporting a population.

MILES "ARN ROOT."

Sets Sail For Cuba Wednesday Evening.

Dispatches Do Not State Whether He Carried His Bath-tub or Not.

Washington, July 7.—(Special) The auxiliary cruiser St. Paul left New York for Santiago Wednesday afternoon, carrying Gen. Miles, commander-in-chief of the army; Brigadier-General Guy V. Henry and staff, and the 8th Ohio Volunteers, "The President's Own." The St. Paul is to carry a large quantity of supplies, including clothing, meats and fruits.

Foreign refugees on the British ship Pallas and the Austrian Marie Teresa at Kingston, report that Gen. Garcia's Cuban force failed to stop Gen. Pando and his 7000 Spanish troops after a hot fight, and that the reinforcements entered Santiago. Gen. Pando was wounded and is on the Reina Mercedes, now used as a hospital ship in Santiago Bay. The reports are believed by Secretary Alger. They will prevent further activities against the city at this time.

Reinforcements asked for by Gen. Shafter, after Saturday's exhausting work and the attack by the American line Saturday night, have been ordered to Santiago.

Ten thousand troops will sail before to-morrow night.

The need of aid is still greater than it was on Sunday, when Shafter wired the Secretary of War that his investing line was "thin" and that he might find it necessary to "retire" from his position at El Caney and "rearrange" his lines, for Pando's 7000 men are now besieging the Santiago trenches.

The events of Saturday night have virtually decided Shafter to delay further action. In the attack Saturday night the Spanish "artillery" opened on our positions, the range of which had been accurately obtained, and our line was forced back at two distinct points. But the advantage was only temporary.

Our losses killed and wounded since Thursday, estimated by Shafter on Sunday at 1000, are now estimated at 1800.

IRVING'S HARD LUCK.

Great English Actor Is Not as Prosperous as He Was.

Said to Be Succumbing to Ambitious Rivals Like Beerbohm Tree—Eliza Terry's Succession and Its Effect.

Last week the critics brought the news to us in this country that Sir Henry Irving, after occupying a seemingly impregnable position at the head of the London dramatic world for a score of years, is rapidly succumbing to his ambitious rivals. His last season, it is said, has been only a succession of failures, and the London Lyceum, while in those days of prosperity has attracted the most brilliant actors in the English capital, has lost so much of its popularity that the great gatherings of past years have dwindled to a scattered few. On the heels of this story of misfortune comes the information that Miss Ellen Terry, whose name has been inseparably connected with the success of Sir Henry, is about to go over to America. Other actors are at work to dim the future of the man who has done more than any other living actor, perhaps, to lift the drama to the high position it holds among the arts.

The enemy in this case is Mr. Beerbohm Tree, for years the adroit manager of the Royal Opera House, and author of Sir Henry's theatrical career. He is a master of the art of makeup and character impersonation, although he has never equaled Sir Henry in the genius of theatrical production. For years he has been Sir Henry's acknowledged rival, and at last his persistent endeavors seem to be crowned with success, for he has won the favor of Miss Ellen Terry, is to join his forces in the character of Constance in the projected elaborate production of "King John." An interesting fact in connection with the reported change is that Miss Marion Terry, a sister of Miss Ellen Terry, is also a member of his company, and now the two are likely to appear together on one stage for the first time in their careers.

SIR HENRY IRVING.
His Days of Prosperity Are Said to Be Over.

Stage people are notoriously superstitious, and it may be that the "hoodoo" which is the persistent bane of all actors has finally scuttled on the trail of Sir Henry. Superstition has it that this hoodoo begins its work when an actor changes his name. If this is true Sir Henry has twice made himself his shining star. The first time was when he took the unusual steps to change his name from John Broadhurst, by which he was baptized, to Henry Irving, which he assumed when he first went on the stage. The second time was when, in recognition of his genius, Queen Victoria accorded him the high honor of knighthood, and made him Sir Henry Irving. The year next to his knighting was two years ago, and at the time no menacing clouds were visible in his future.

But with knighthood began a series of misfortunes, not great when considered separately, but formidable in their aggregate. Indiscreet utterances, charged against Sir Henry from time to time alienated the London critics to such a degree that they would not sponsor him, and the London papers grew apathetic in his support. An accident which he suffered during the rehearsals of "Peter the Great" necessitated the postponement of that production for many weeks. One after the other, "Cymbeline," "Mme. Sans-Gene" and "Peter the Great" all but failed before London audiences, although the papers were loath to record the fact. Then a disastrous fire totally ruined the elaborate scenery and properties of his most successful productions. In the meantime Mr. Beerbohm Tree's production of "Julius Caesar" at Her Majesty's theater became the reigning attraction of London, and enticed to that playhouse the supporters of the Lyceum. Lastly comes the accession of Miss Terry, which leaves Sir Henry without a leading actress of note at a time when it is difficult to find another adequate to the place she has so long occupied. That the new actress has had its influence on the actor's part is well known, and all combined leave Sir Henry in an extremely untenable position.

His arrival, Mr. Beerbohm Tree, is pressing resolutely into the position which the Lyceum has occupied. A fickle public which is as quick to forget as it is to honor, is showing signs of deserting the stage. It again turns to itself, and that the genius of Sir Henry, like that of the rest, is only transitory?

WYLY-VENABLE.

Another Popular Young Couple Surprises Their Friends.

Druggist Kit Wyly and His Book-Keeper, Miss Julia Venable, Wed at Greenbrier.

Hopkinsville has been surprised several times this year with sudden and unexpected marriages.

Another wedding of this sort occurred this morning at Greenbrier, Tenn. The contracting parties being a couple of unusual prominence and popularity. The groom is Dr. C. E. Wyly, the Main street druggist, and the bride his pretty book-keeper, Miss Julia Venable, one of the most charming young ladies in the city.

For the last two or three years Miss Venable has occupied the position of book-keeper in Mr. Wyly's drug store.

The proprietor was believed to be a confirmed bachelor—not an old one but still a bachelor.

It seems that the business relationship gradually merged into love, but it had been kept so quiet that the friends of the young couple were hardly prepared for the announcement that Miss Venable had become Mrs. Wyly.

As above stated the marriage was solemnized at Greenbrier.

Mr. Wyly "escaped" from town Wednesday in the general exodus to the Endeavor meeting, and the next thing heard was the news that he had gone to marry. Miss Venable had been at Greenbrier for a week past.

Dr. J. W. Venable, father of the bride, left this morning and upon his arrival there the ceremony was performed by him at 10 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Wyly will go to Johnsonville, Tenn., where the groom has relatives, and spend a week in that mountain town, after which they will return home and take rooms and board at Mr. J. M. Howe's, on Walnut street.

They have friends by the legion who will extend them their heartiest congratulations, coupled with good wishes for future happiness and prosperity.

STORE ROBBED.

Big Haul Made on J. M. Adams & Co.'s Safe.

Money Recovered After Some Shrewd Detective Work by One of the Firm.

The general merchandise store of J. M. Adams & Co., of Church Hill, was robbed Saturday night of $160 in cash.

The news was kept quiet until a clew left behind could be followed up, and the robbery has just become public. Eli Adams, one of firm, had closed the store and gone to supper, leaving the safe unlocked. On his return he found a rear window open and also discovered the safe door ajar.

Investigation disclosed the fact that the inside drawer had been broken open and its contents removed, amounting to $160 in bills and coin.

Mr. Adams at once had suspicions as to who the guilty party was and by doing some detective work of his own succeeded in recovering the money or nearly all of it.

It was also found that the house was entered by cutting the window screen. It is said that the guilty party has left the country, and the matter has been hushed up so effectually that all of the names and details could not be obtained. However, there is no doubt of the truth of the facts as set forth above.

COB PIPES.

A Missouri Firm Wants to Start a Factory Here.

A Fine Opening for an Enterprise that Brings Much Revenue To a Town.

Postmaster Wilgus has received a letter from parties in Missouri who want to come to Hopkinsville and establish a Cob Pipe factory, with a capacity of 10,000 pipes a day, and employing 15 or 20 hands.

Few people have any idea how many cob pipes are used. There is a big and increasing demand for them and wherever factories have been established they have found a ready sale for all they could make.

In many town the cob pipe business has brought more money to them than all the other industries put together, and the beauty of it is that it all comes from the different parts of the country and stays in a town, being paid out for labor, cobs, etc.

A paper published at Washington, Mo., says of a factory there:

From what facts and figures we can gather we find that nearly $100,000 is paid annually for cobs brought to our town. The cob crop is the farmers' Klondike. Farmers living fifteen or twenty miles from here bring their cobs to market. On account of competition, cobs frequently bring from 25 cents to 30 cents per 100, and occasionally as much as 35 cents each.

The cob pipe industry has practically made this town. It is a constant source of revenue, continually bringing to our city thousands of dollars from all parts of the United States, Canada and Great Britain.

The patent on cob pipes was a filler of filling of plaster. This process was patented, but the patent has recently expired.

Cob pipes have become a staple article, so much as sugar, coffee or tobacco, and as they last only a short time, they are in constant demand. Our factories seem to have a better demand than ever before and the pipe business seems to be in its infancy and will no doubt reach enormous proportions during the coming decade."

The parties write like they mean business, and Mr. Wilgus has written them to come on and see for themselves what a fine opening there is here for such a business.

ROAST FOR SHAFTER.

Richard H. Davis Discusses the Blunders at Santiago.

Says Things Are in a Bad Way and all Because of Shafter's Incompetency.

Kingston, July 7.—(Special)—Richard Harding Davis writes this paper:

"We are in the face of possible disaster. Nothing has been done by these expeditions beyond proving the heroic courage of American soldiers.

Truthfully, the expedition was prepared in ignorance and conducted in a series of blunders. Its commanding General has not yet even been within two miles of the scene of operations. That officer rode to a hill two miles from San Juan the day before the battle. He was overcome by heat, and has been lying on his back the greatest part of the time ever since.

"Gen. Wheeler, who refused to remain in bed with his fever, is here beside me asleep on a poncho with bullets passing over him.

There are Gen. Summer, Kent, Lawton, and Chaffee and Wood—never before have so many commanding officers lived so constantly on the fire line, yet the man who is supposed to direct the entire expedition is in a tent at the rear.

If he is ill he should be relieved; if not, the presence of some man with absolute authority is necessary to the front. I am quoting what brigade commanders demand."

graves.

A Story of the Horror.

Some of the scenes enacted on board La Bourgoynie just after the collision were terrible to witness. Men fought for positions in the boat like raving maniacs, women were forced back from the boats and trampled by men, who made self-preservation their first object.

On board were a large number of the lower class of Italians and other foreigners, who in their frenzy stopped at nothing that promised safety for themselves. In a boat was a party of forty, but so great was the panic that not a hand was raised to assist in its launching. The occupants, some never saw were drawn like rats when the ship, with an awful hissing sound, went down.

So desperate was the situation that an Italian passenger drew his knife and made direct at one who, like himself, was endeavoring to reach the boats. Immediately his action was imitated in every direction. Knives were flourished and used with effect. Women and children were driven back to inevitable death at the point of weapons, the owners of which were experts in their use. According to stories of survivors, women were stabbed like so many sheep.

Move From Chickamauga.

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 7.—Shortly after noon yesterday orders were issued to the 1st Brigade, 1st division, 1st army corps, to break camp and march to Ringgold, Ga., there to take trains for Charleston, S. C. An hour later the three regiments composing the brigade, the 2nd and 3rd Wisconsin and the 16th Pennsylvania had left camp. The loading at Ringgold began about 3 o'clock.

The 3rd Illinois, 4th Ohio and 4th Pennsylvania are under orders and will go next. Maj.-Gen. Wilson, who will command the detachment which goes from here to Santiago, has orders to proceed to Charleston.
